

Quality, OH&S and Environmental— SKG has all three.

SKG is a leader in the provision of property services and has been the preferred supplier for many years. In order to keep delivering on its commitment to clients, SKG have invested time and resources to formally obtain integrated business management certification.

With certification in Quality Management ISO9001:2000, Occupational Health & Safety Management AS4801:2001 and Environmental Management ISO14001:2004, there have been several key benefits for both SKG and clients including consistency, direction and ensuring quality outcomes.

Achieving certification is one thing but it's the added processes that have supplied value and results to SKG's business, but more importantly to SKG's clients.

With all facets of SKG's operations flowing in accordance with these established standards, SKG are very proud to be one of only a few property services organisations in NSW and the ACT to be certified to all three key standards.

The competitive position of SKG in the industry has strengthened considerably due to SKG's achievements and ongoing commitment towards best practices.
