Businesses clean up after dust storm

John Conomos of SKG Cleaning Services, whose clients include Wollongong City Council, and Integral Energy, said his team of 20 cleaners had been going "above and beyond" to keep their regular customers happy.

"The dust is not overly serious, it's just a bit of extra work. The dust seems to have got into areas where it normally wouldn't.

"It's pushed its way through doorways, windows. It's gotten through the air-conditioning systems."

The three cleaning staff of Wollongong's Olympic Car Wash were run off their feet yesterday, cleaning 45 cars and one SES truck by hand.

"It's been very busy, especially as it has been hard to clean the cars - it takes longer to clean because it's red dust," manager Armindo Rodrigues said.
